OREGON STATE DOCUMENTS

THIS CHECKLIST OF Oregon state documents covers all that could be found in the libraries of Oregon, for the period from the beginning of the provisional government in 1843 down to and including 1925. Only printed material is given, generally, although occasional typed or mimeographed articles of special importance are listed. The checklist is based upon the documents in the collection of the Library Association of Portland, but those in the Oregon State Library, Oregon Historical Society, University of Oregon, Oregon State College, Supreme Court Library, Multnomah Law Library, Medical School of the University of Oregon and Oregon College of Education at Monmouth have all been examined for additional material. Many of the state departments have been visited and I have also gone through the records of the state printer. In addition to these sources, I have consulted Bowker's State Publications, Oregon section, the Monthly List of State Publications issued by the Library of Congress, and the list of Oregon Archives, compiled by Prof. F. G. Young and published in the report of the American Historical Association for 1902, as well as in the Oregon Historical Quarterly, for December, 1902.

In general the publications of the University were found in the Library of the University at Eugene; of the Agricultural College at Corvallis; of the Medical School in the Library of that institution in Portland, and of the College of Education at Monmouth. They may be understood to be in those places unless otherwise indicated. The general collections are in both the Library Association of Portland and the State Library at Salem, unless noted as being elsewhere. These two libraries have also very full files of the publications given above. Wherever a document has been found in another place from the one to be expected, that place is indicated by an initial or name in curves following the entry. No attempt has been made to list material designed only for the use of students or simply for carrying on the routine of work.

The place of publication of the documents of the University is Eugene, of the Agricultural College, Corvallis, and of the general publications, Salem, unless otherwise noted.

Unnumbered publications are arranged in chronological order. Wherever entry is by date, or where dates covered by reports are given, the imprint date is omitted. A fiscal year not coincident with the calendar year or a session of the legislature running over from the end of one year into the following year will be indicated as in Bowker's list by the line /. Thus the session of the legislature from Dec. 1855, to Jan. 1856, will be written 1855/56.

It is hoped that the publication of this checklist will bring to light some of the documents that have so far eluded our search.

1858. Called first session of the state Legislature. July 5-9, 1858.

The constitution adopted in 1857 provided that the newly elected state Legislature should meet on the first Monday in July to elect U.S. senators and make such provisions as were necessary for completing the organization of the government. This (1858) session was the one thus provided for. The U.S. Senate had passed the bill granting Oregon statehood shortly before this, but the House failed to act upon it, so that the action of this session of the Legislature was premature.

1858. Called first regular session. Sept. 13-14, 1858.

According to the provisions of the state constitution adopted in 1857, in expectation of statehood, the Legislature was to meet in its first regular session the second Monday in September, 1858. Because of the uncertainty of their status, since the House of Representatives had failed to act upon the bill admitting Oregon, only a few of the legislators went to Salem, and no organization was effected.

Joint rules.

The joint rules were included with the rules of both House and Senate for the following sessions: 1849, 1851/52, 1852/53, 1853/54, 1854/55, 1855/56, 1856/57, 1857/58, 1866, 1870, 1885, 1887, 1891, 1893, 1895, 1899, 1901, 1905-1911, 1917-1923.

They are included in the council rules for the following years: 1850/51, 1858/59; in the House rules for the following sessions: 1860, 1868, 1874, 1878, 1880; and in the Senate rules for the following sessions: 1859, 1860, 1862, 1864. They have not been found for the other years.

Committee reports.

Only those committee reports are listed that cover a definite subject. No attempt is made to give any that merely report bills favorably or unfavorably or that recommend changes in wording. Nor are routine reports given which are to be expected regularly in the journals, like those of the committee on credentials, rules, mileage, pay of clerks, etc.

Laws, general and special.

1843. Oregon archives p. 28-35.

At the meeting for organization of the provisional government, May 2, 1843, a Legislative Committee had been appointed for the purpose of drafting a code of laws, which should be presented at a public meeting to be held July 5. At this second meeting, the reports of the committee were adopted. The report upon the judiciary consisted of a constitution (sec. 1) and of what was called the Organic Law (sec. 2, art. 1-18). Included in it was also a resolution that certain sections of the statute laws of Iowa enacted at the session of 1838/39 should be adopted. This Iowa code of 1839 was called the Little Blue Book. A Militia Law and a Law of Land Claims, recommended by the Legislative Committee, were also adopted. The Organic Law was amended June 27, 1844. (Laws 1843/49, p. 98-101) and again by vote of the people July 5, 1845. (Laws 1850/51, p. 28-33). The first territorial Legislative Assembly adopted by a single act certain acts of the revised statutes of Iowa published in 1843, designating them by their titles and dates of passage. This law was termed the Chapman Code and the Big Blue Book. Because of conflict of opinion of the judges as to the validity of the Chapman Code, the Little Blue Book was used in part of the territory and the Big Blue Book in the rest of the territory. J. K. Kelly, "History of the Preparation of the First Code of Oregon," Oregon Historical Quarterly, IV, 185-94).

1843-49. Laws of a general and local nature passed by the Legislative Committee and Legislative Assembly at their various successive sessions from the year 1843 down to and inclusive of the session of the Territorial Legislature, held in the year 1849; except such laws as were published in the bound volume of Oregon statutes, dated Oregon City, 1851; collected and published pursuant to an act of the Legislative Assembly, passed Jan. 26. 1853. 218+3p. Salem, 1853.

Certain laws omitted from this compilation are in manuscript in the Oregon Historical Society.

1845. Oregon acts and laws passed by the House of Representatives at a meeting held in Oregon City, August, 1845. 60p. N.Y.Phemister, 1921.

These laws were not included in the collection of 1843-49. The manuscript laws with the Governor's signature are in the archives at the Oregon Historical Society. The manuscript from which this first printed edition was made, was found among the papers of Judge William Strong, and given by his son, Thomas N. Strong, to the Oregon Historical Society.

- 1849-50. First session. Territorial.

Acts of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oregon passed at their sessions, begun and held at Oregon City in July, 1849, and May, 1850. 180p. Oregon City, 1850. H, Supreme Court Library, P).

At an extra session of the Legislature in May, 1850, the following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That a committee of one from each house be appointed to select and prepare for the press, such Acts of the Assembly as may be of immediate and pressing importance to the people of the Territory, and procure the printing of two hundred copies at the earliest possible period, commencing with the Acts on Justices of the Peace, Probate Courts, Revenue, Crimes and Punishments, until twenty Acts shall have been printed." This volume, thus provided for, is known as the "Twenty Acts." Only one Act of 1850 was published in this volume. The others are in the laws of the second session, 1850/51.

- 1853/54. Fifth session.

Statutes of Oregon, enacted and continued in force . . . at the session commencing 5th December, 1853. 592p. Oregon, 1853.

This is really a compilation, prepared by the Code Commission, consisting of J. K. Kelly, R. P. Boise and D. R. Bigelow. The several acts were passed upon individually in order to comply with the provisions of the Organic Law which required that every act should embrace but one object. This is the only form in which the general laws of this session appeared.

1854/55. Sixth session.

The statutes of Oregon, enacted and continued in force . . . at the fifth and sixth sessions . . . 653p. Oregon, 1855.

This is a new edition of the code of 1853/54. Because of lack of facilities for printing the code in Oregon, it had been printed in New York, although having "Oregon" in the imprint. The larger part of the edition was sent out on a ship which was lost, and the new edition was issued to supply the need caused by this loss. It included the general laws passed in 1854/55, and is the only form in which they appeared.

- Codes.*
- 1853/54. Statutes of Oregon, enacted and continued in force by the Legislative Assembly at the session commencing 5th December, 1853. 592p. Oregon, 1854.

This was the first code of Oregon, prepared by James K. Kelly, Reuben P. Boise and Daniel R. Bigelow. As there were no facilities in Oregon for printing and binding this code, the territorial printer made arrangements to have it printed and bound in New York. Part of these volumes were sent to Oregon by way of Panama and were received in Oregon during the summer of 1854. The remaining copies were sent around Cape Horn but were lost in a sea-wreck so that they never reached Oregon. Between May 1, 1854, when the code took effect and the arrival of these codes, the judges and lawyers in the courts used copies of the printed draft reported by the Code Commissioners. Two hundred copies of this draft had been prepared for the use of the Legislature. This draft was published in an unbound volume so that the different bills could be readily detached for legislative use. (Kelly, Oregon Historical Quarterly, IV, 185ff; Fred Lockley, Oregon Journal, Apr. 2-3, 1924).

- 1854-55. The statutes of Oregon, enacted, and continued in force, by the Legislative Assembly at the fifth and sixth regular sessions thereof. 653p. Oregon, 1855.

As only part of the copies of the 1853 code reached Oregon, a new edition was ordered which included the laws passed at this session.

1862. Code of civil procedure, and other general statutes of Oregon, enacted . . . at the session commencing Sept. 8, A.D. 1862. Code Commissioners; M. P. Deady, A. C. Gibbs, J. K. Kelly. 286+127+xx+iv p. Oregon, 1863.

Agricultural College lands, Board of commissioners of.

By act of Oct. 27, 1868, a board consisting of J. F. Miller, J. H. Douthit and J. C. Avery was authorized to locate lands granted for establishment of the Agricultural College. (Laws 1868 p.40). A law approved Oct. 28, 1872, transferred the sale of those lands to the Board of Land Commissioners. (Laws 1872 p.133).

Agricultural Society.

Although county agricultural societies had been formed previously, no state organization was effected until February 1860.

In that year the recently organized State Agricultural Society petitioned the Legislature for state aid. The special committee to which this was referred reported adversely the bill making appropriations for the state society but recommended an appropriation of $50 for each county agricultural society to be established. This report was adopted but the bill carrying it into effect was indefinitely postponed. (House journal 1860 p. 84, 101, 153). At this session a law was passed providing for the protection of fair grounds. (1860 p.80-1), further provisions for this purpose being made by the Legislatures of 1862, 1865, and 1880, but no appropriation was made. The law of February 20, 1885 established a state board of agriculture partly composed of citizens elected by the State Agricultural Society, gave it the management and control of the Agricultural Society, provided for a state fair under the management of the society and made an appropriation for its work. (1885 p.57-60). The Legislature of 1899 changed the provision that part of the members of the board were to be elected by the Agricultural Society, to one that the president of each county or district agricultural, horticultural or mechanical society, or a delegate from it, should be ex officio a member of the Board of Agriculture. (1899 p.208). The Legislature of 1911 passed a law authorizing county courts to make appropriations for county fairs or permitting two or more counties to combine to form a district fair. (1911 p.125). The Legislature of 1913 authorized the several county courts to appoint county fair boards which should have the management of county fairs. (1913 p.256). These two laws did away with all the provisions for the district agricultural societies listed below. The same Legislature transferred the management of the state fair to a board of state fair directors all appointed by the Governor, with no provision for representation of the State Agricultural Society or of the county or district agricultural societies. (1913 p.163). Although no longer responsible for the management of the fair, the Agricultural Society has continued to exist and hold regular meetings. (The premium list for 1879 has a sketch of the early history of the society. See also an account of it by G. H. Himes in Oregon Historical Quarterly, VIII, 317-52 (December, 1907). The minutes of the society in the possession of Mr. A. F. Miller were also consulted).

Agricultural Society, Central Oregon, First district.

Created by act of Feb. 1, 1909. It consisted of Crook County. An annual report was specified but none has been found.

Agricultural Society, Eastern Oregon, First district.

Established by act approved Feb. 20, 1889. Comprised Baker, Malheur, Grant, Wallowa and Union counties. It was to have supervision of the district fair. Annual reports and the dissemination of information to encourage immigration were specified as duties. (Laws 1889 p.18-20). By act of Feb. 11, 1905, the district was divided, Union and Wallowa counties remaining in the first district and the others transferred to the fourth district. (1905 p.129-33).

Agricultural Society, Eastern Oregon, Second district.

Established by act approved Feb. 20, 1889, for the management of the district fair. It comprised Umatilla, Morrow, Gilliam, Crook and Wasco counties. (1889 p.18-20). The law of Feb. 25, 1901 includes Umatilla, Morrow, Gilliam, Wheeler, Crook, Sherman and Wasco counties in this district. (1901 p.113-4). By acts of 1909 Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler counties were transferred to the seventh district and Crook to the First Central Oregon district. (1909 p.48-51).

Other district agricultural societies were established in eastern Oregon for the management of fairs in their respective districts. The third district, established by act of Feb. 3, 1905, comprised Umatilla and Morrow counties. (1905 p.73-5). The fourth district, created by act of Feb. 11, 1905, was composed of Baker, Malheur, Grant and Harney counties, transferred from the first district. (1905 p.129-33). By act of Feb. 1, 1909, Grant County became the fifth district and Harney County the sixth, both being transferred from the fourth district. By act of the same legislature, Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler counties were transferred from the second district and became the seventh district. (1909 p.48-51). In all these cases annual reports are specified but none have been found.

Agriculture, Board of.

Previous to 1885 the state fair had been carried on by the Agricultural Society, without financial aid from the state. The Legislature of this year, by act approved Feb. 20, established a State Board of Agriculture, the duties of which were to be the management or control of the State Agricultural Society. Provision was made for an annual fair under the charge of the society and an appropriation was made for its support. Eight members of the board were to be appointed by the Governor and four elected by the Agricultural Society. The directors of each county and district agricultural society were to report annually to this board. (1885 p.57-60). The Legislature of 1899 changed the provision that four members of the board should be elected by the Agricultural Society to one that the president of each county or district agricultural, horticultural or mechanical society, or a delegate elected from it, should be ex officio a member of the Board of Agriculture. (1899 p.208). At the same time the number of members to be appointed by the Governor was reduced to five. The Legislature of 1913 established the state fair as an institution under the management of the Board of State Fair Directors, all to be appointed by the Governor, superseding the State Board of Agriculture. (1913 p.163 ff). By an act of Feb. 23, 1915, the law providing for activities of the Board of Agriculture was repealed. (1915 p.121). Auditor.

The organic law of the provisional government, adopted July 5, 1845, provided for an auditor among the officials. (1850/51, p.30). A law passed Dec. 18, 1846 also provides for an auditor who was to be elected by the House of Representatives. (Ms. at H.). The Territorial Legislature of 1850/51, in the law establishing the Treasury Department, provided for an auditor. (1850/51 p.264). Upon the adoption of the state constitution, the Secretary of State is made ex officio auditor and there is no further provision for this office. (Constitution Art. VI, sec. 2).

Bank examiner see Banking department.

Banking department.

By an act of Feb. 25, 1907, provision was made for a bank examiner to be appointed by a Board of bank commissioners, consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, to which he was to report annually. (1907 p.262, 270). The banking law of Feb. 23, 1911, established the Banking department, changing the Board of bank commissioners to the State banking board, and the Bank examiner to the Superintendent of banks. The personnel of the Banking Board remains the same and the provisions hold as to the appointment of the Superintendent of banks and his report to the Banking board. (1911 p.225). These provisions are continued in later laws.

Canal and lock commissioners, Willamette Falls, Board of.

The Willamette Falls Canal and Lock Company was incorporated Sept. 1868, for the purpose of constructing a canal and locks around Willamette Falls at Oregon City. The Legislature of 1870 appropriated $200,000 to aid in this enterprise, at the same time prescribing conditions as to building and tolls. Provision was made by this law of Oct. 21 for a board of three commissioners to be appointed by the Governor, upon the completion of the canal and locks, to examine the works and report upon them. (1870 p.14-17). A law approved Oct. 19, 1876, regulates the operation of the locks and provides for a board of canal commissioners to be elected by the Legislature and to supervise the operation of the locks by the Willamette Falls company. The board was to report annually to the Secretary of State. (1876 p.14-20). A law approved Oct. 17, 1878, changed the provision for the board so as to make the Governor and Secretary of State ex officio members and provided that only one member be elected by the Legislature, this elected member to be secretary of the board. (1878 p.27-29). An act of Oct. 26, 1882 makes the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer the board of canal and lock commissioners and the private secretary of the Governor secretary of the board. (1882 p.42-3). In 1913 the locks were acquired by the U.S. government and an act of Feb. 21, 1913, in ceding its rights to the U.S., abolished this board. (1913 p.117-19).

1874 Sept. 10. To board of capitol building commissioners. 43p. Also Mes. & doc. 1874.

Capitol building commissioners, Board of.

For territorial capitol see Public buildings at the seat of government, Board of commissioners to erect.

By a law approved Oct. 10, 1872, appropriation was made for a capitol building, and a board of three commissioners, to be elected by the Legislature, was created. (1872 p.11-14). In 1876 as the appropriation was exhausted, the Legislature, by act approved Oct. 21, repealed the law of 1872 and abolished the board. (1876 p.81). A law approved Oct. 17, 1878 making further appropriations for the capitol building, does not make provision for a board of building commissioners. In 1885 the completion of the capitol was entrusted to the newly created board of public building commissioners. (1895 p.30-33). An act approved Feb. 16, 1891 makes further appropriations for completing the capitol building and designates as a board of capitol building commissioners, the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, with the Governor's private secretary as clerk of the board.

(1891 p.37-38). The Legislature of 1903 included the capitol among the public buildings to be provided with a water system under the supervision of the board of public building commissioners (1903 p.307-09), and reports of the capitol are included in the reports of that board from this time. The law of Feb. 16, 1909 places the care and custody of the capitol building in the hands of the Secretary of State. (1909 p.104). With the transfer of all state institutions and buildings to the supervision of the state board of control, all reports are included in the reports of that board, although the Secretary of State continues to have the ordinary care of the building. (1913 p.119-23).

Cayuse war claims, Commissioner on.

Thomas Magruder, Samuel Burch and Wesley Shannon were appointed by the Legislature of the provisional government a board to provide for the final settlement of claims against the Oregon government for the Cayuse war. (1843-9 p.56-8). The Legislature of 1850/51 provided that a commissioner should be elected by joint ballot of both houses of the Legislature for this purpose. (1850/51 p.270-2).

Child welfare commission.

Appointed by the Governor Jan. 7, 1913, at the request of the congress of mothers. The Legislatures of 1915 and 1917 made special appropriations for printing its report. In 1917 the work was turned over to the extension division of the state university. (Report for 1917, Introd. note). The Legislature of 1919, by act of March 4, makes definite provision for the commission, giving it supervision of child welfare work in Oregon and of institutions for children, and granting it an appropriation. By act approved Feb. 22, 1919, the name was changed to state water board and was to consist of the state engineer and the state water superintendent. District no. 1 was abolished and the superintendent of district no. 2 became superintendent of the whole state (1919 p.130-44). For publications see Water board.

Control, Board of.

Created by act of Feb. 21, 1913, for the management of all state institutions. This law turned over to its control the following: State hospital, Eastern Oregon state hospital, institution for feeble-minded, training school, girls' industrial school, penitentiary, school for the blind, school for the deaf, tuberculosis hospital, soldiers' home and capitol and supreme court buildings. All separate boards and governing-bodies were abolished and from this date all reports of these institutions are included in the reports of this board (1913 p.119-33). The Legislature of 1917 gave the Governor again full authority over the penitentiary, with power to appoint the warden, but reports continue to be included in those of the board of control (1917 p.220-21). The Legislature of 1921 extended its jurisdiction to cover also the employment institution for the blind. (1921 p.99-100).

Desert land board.

The Legislature of 1901 extended the power of the state land board so that it had charge of the desert lands granted to the state under the Carey act. (1901 p.378-83). The Legislature of 1909 created the desert land board, to be composed of the Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Attorney General and State Engineer, the State Engineer to be secretary of the board. To it the care of the desert lands was transferred. (1909 p.377-83). In 1913 by act of Feb. 25 this board was given charge of the completion of the Columbia Southern project. (1913 p.215-17).

Report, Biennial, relative to the reclamation of the desert lands . . . under the Carey act.

These reports are a continuation of the reports relative to desert lands of the state land board. The first two continue the numbering of those reports, but the third changes to its proper numbering under this board.

Education, Board of.

The Legislature of 1872 constituted the Governor, Secretary of State and the Superintendent of public instruction a state board of education of which the Superintendent of public instruction was to be secretary. It was to have the power to make rules and regulations governing the schools, etc. (1872 p.146-51).

Education, Department of.

The later publications from the office of the superintendent of public instruction are given as by the department of education, composed of the superintendent and his assistants, but, as the law specifies only the superintendent of public instruction, all publications are listed under that designation.

Embalmers' examining board.

Created by act approved Feb. 17, 1921. (1921 p.150-54). It was to consist of three members, one to be appointed by the Governor, biennially, from embalmers holding licenses as such from the state board of health, who were residents of the state; the second member to be the secretary of the Oregon funeral directors' association; and the third member the secretary of the Oregon state board of health. Biennial reports are specified.

Engineer, State.

The office was established by act of Feb. 22, 1905. It was required that he be a technically qualified hydraulic engineer, to be appointed by the Governor. Reports were required annually and also at the request of the Governor. (1905 p.403-06). By act of Feb. 24, 1909 he was to be appointed by the Governor to serve until the next general election and thereafter to be elected. He was to be ex officio president of the board of control (later the state water board). (1909 p.319-43). Also, by act of Sept. 30, 1909, creating the desert land board, the state engineer was to be ex officio secretary of that board. (1909 p.377-83). The law of Feb. 24, 1915 restored the previous method of appointment by the Governor. (1915 p.360), and that Legislature transferred the work of the highway engineer to this office. (1915 p.537). The Legislature of 1923 abolished the state water board and water superintendent and transferred their duties to the state engineer. (1923 p.348-58).

Executive committee.

By the organic law adopted first by the provisional government, the executive power was placed in the hands of a committee called Executive Committee. By law passed June 27, 1844, the Executive Committee was superseded by a single official called in this law "Executive of Oregon." (Laws 1843-49 p.98-9), and in the Organic Laws of July 5, 1845 "Governor." (Laws 1850/51 p.30-31). Thereafter the executive was called Governor.

Fish commission.

The various boards of officials designated to enforce the laws regulating the fishing industry are listed under Fish commission in chronological order rather than in alphabetical order. A summary of their names is as follows: 1878-1887 Fish commissioner; 1887-1893 Fish commission; 1893-1895 Game and fish protector; 1895-1898 Fish and game protector; 1898-1901 Board of the fish commission (executive officer of the fish commissioner); 1901-1911 Board of fish commissioners (executive officer the master fish warden); 1911-1920 Board of fish and game commissioners (executive officer master fish warden); 1920-1921 Fish commission of the board of fish and game commissioners; 1921-date Fish commission (executive officer master fish warden).

Fish commission. (1878-1887 Fish commissioner).

The office was established by act approved Oct. 18, 1878, in order to co-operate with Washington which had passed a similar law at its session in 1877, provisional upon the passage of this law. The territory covered was the Columbia River and its tributaries. The commissioner was to be appointed by the Governor and was to report to him by Sept. 15, biennially. (1878 p.16-20). By act of the Legislature of 1887 the fish commissioner was superseded by the fish commission. (1887 p.37-8). No reports have been found.

Fish commission (1887-1893).

This commission was established by act approved Feb. 18, 1887, and consisted of three persons elected by the Legislature. The president was to give his full time to the work and was to establish a fish hatchery. (1887 p.37-8). The Legislature of 1893 substituted for the commission a game and fish protector. (1893 p.177-80).

Fish commission (1893-1895 Game and fish protector).

The Legislature of 1893 abolished the fish commission and provided for a game and fish protector who was to have charge of the enforcement of the law protecting fish and game. (1893 p.177-80). In the revision of this law by the Legislature of 1895 the title was changed to fish and game protector, and the report for 1893-94 in which he was thus designated, is entered under that name.

Fish commission (1895-1898 Fish and game protector).

The Legislature of 1895, while retaining the office with the same provisions for election biennially by the Legislature and for annual reports, changed the name to fish and game protector. In the title he was called fish and game warden but in the law itself fish and game protector. (1895 p.98-100). At the special session of the Legislature of 1898 this law was repealed, the office abolished and provision made for a fish commission and a fish commissioner. (1898 p.48-56).

Fish commission (1898-1901 Board of the fish commission).

The Legislature at its special session in 1898 abolished the office of fish and game protector and established a board of the fish commission and a fish commissioner instead. (1898 p.48-56). The Legislature of 1899 by act approved Feb. 18 repealed such provisions of the law as applied to game and transferred these duties to a game and forestry warden. (1899 p.132-40). The Legislature of 1901 revised the law and the board charged with its enforcement was now called board of fish commissioners. (1901 p.334-6).

Fish commission (1901-1911 Board of fish commissioners).

The Legislature of 1901, by act of Feb. 28 provided that the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer should constitute a board of fish commissioners which should have the authority to appoint a master fish warden and his deputies. They were to have general supervisory control of the fish wardens and fish hatcheries of the state. (1901 p.334-6). This board was superseded by the board of fish and game commissioners in 1911. Fish commission (1911-1920 Board of fish and game commissioners).

Created by act of Feb. 21, 1911. It was to be composed of five members, citizens and residents of Oregon, two of them living east of the Cascade Range. Four of the commissioners were to be appointed by the Governor and the fifth was to be chosen by the other four. This board superseded the board of fish commissioners and the game warden to be appointed by it supersedes the game and forestry warden. (1911 p.206-8). The changes in the law made by the Legislature of 1913 make no change in the appointment of this board or in their appointment of the master fish warden or of the state game warden. (1913 p.423-57). The act of Feb. 1915 changes the provision for appointment of the board so that two members shall be residents of game district no. 1 (west of the Cascade Range) and two of game district no. 2 (east of the Cascade Range). The board is also authorized to maintain an educational and biological department if it sees fit. Requirement is made not only that the master fish warden and state game warden report to the board but also that the board should transmit their reports with its own to the Secretary of State annually. (1915 p.443-9).

Fish commission. (1920-21 Fish commission of the board of fish and game commissioners).

At the special session of the Legislature in 1920 the board of fish and game commissioners was increased to nine members, eight of them to be chosen by the Legislature. Five of these were to represent the game interests of the state. The other three chosen by the Legislature were to represent the fishing interests of the state and were to constitute the fish commission of the board of fish and game commissioners. The eight thus chosen were to select the ninth member who should not be identified with either the game or commercial fishing interests and who should be the chairman. The two commissions were to meet separately and were to have exclusive jurisdiction over affairs connected with their own province. In case of affairs of joint or conflicting interest, the entire board was to meet and act together. (1920 p.13-15).

Fish commission (1921 to date).

The Legislature of 1921 abolished the preceding board of fish and game commissioners and provided for a fish commission to have charge of the enforcement of the laws regulating the commercial fishing industries. It was to consist of three members to be appointed by the Governor and it was to appoint a master fish warden and a director of hatcheries and fish culture, as well as other employees, all of them to be under its supervision. The master fish warden and the director of hatcheries and fish culture are to report annually to the commission which is to transmit their reports with its own to the Secretary of State. Reports from 1901-1907 are called reports of the department of fisheries. During this period the law designates the board as the board of fish commission and board of fish commissioners, and the reports are listed under Fish commission.

Food commissioner.

By law of Feb. 25, 1889, the office of food commissioner was established. This law also abolished the office of dairy commissioner whose duties were transferred to the food commissioner 1889 p.43-6). Feb. 21, 1893, this law was repealed and a substitute enacted providing for a dairy and food commissioner (1893 p.99-103).

Forestry, Board of.

The first provision for the protection of forests was made by the law of Feb. 22, 1905, although there had been earlier laws prohibiting the setting of fires. This act placed the enforcement of the law in the hands of the county court or county judge of each county (1905 p.397-400). The Legislature of 1907, by act of Feb. 23, created a state board of forestry, to consist of the Governor, Secretary of State, state forester, fish and game warden, the member of the Oregon Agricultural College who had charge of its forest work, and three electors of Oregon to be appointed by the Governor upon recommendation of the Lumber Manufacturers' Association of Oregon, Oregon Forestry Association and the U. S. Forest Service, each of which was to name one such elector. The duties of the board were to investigate the forest conditions of the state and to report upon them to the Legislature following, with its recommendations, to supervise all matters relating to forestry in the state, to appoint wardens as it might deem wise and to enforce laws for the protection of the forests. This law repealed the law of 1905 (1907 p.241-5). The Legislature of 1911 by act of Feb. 24, changed the personnel of the board which was now to consist of the Governor, acting head of the forest school of Oregon Agricultural College and five electors of Oregon to be appointed by the Governor upon recommendation of the state grange, Oregon Forest Fire Association, Oregon and Washington Lumber Manufacturers' Association, U. S. Forest Service and the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association. This board was to have supervision of all matters of forest policy and management under the jurisdiction of the state and should appoint a state forester as the executive officer who should supersede the game and forestry warden so far as forests were concerned (1911 p.475-83). The Legislature of 1921 transferred the power of recommendation of one member from the Oregon and Washington Lumber Manufacturers' Association to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association (1921 p.518-30). These provisions are continued in the act of 1925 (1925 p.514-28).

Game commission.

The various boards entrusted with the enforcement of the laws protecting game are listed in chronological rather than alphabetical order under Game commission, the present designation. A summary of the names and periods of the boards and officials is as follows: 1893-1895 Game and fish protector; 1895-1899 Fish and game protector; 1899-1911 Game and forestry warden; 1911-1920 Board of fish and game commissioners, (executive officer, game warden); 1920-21 Game Commission of the board of fish and game commissioners; 1921 to date Game commission (executive officer, game warden).

Game commission (1893-1895, Game and fish protector).

An act approved Oct. 20, 1882 protects game during certain seasons but provides no one to enforce the law (1882 p.11-13). The Legislature of 1893 by act of Feb. 22 created the office of game and fish protector to be elected biennially by the Legislature, superseding the fish commission. His duties were the enforcement of the laws protecting fish and game (1893 p.177-80). The law approved Feb. 25, 1895, in revising the provisions for the protection of fish and game, retained the office, but changed the name to fish and game protector (1895 p.98-100). The one report issued during the period when the name was given in this way is listed under Fish commission (1895-1898 Fish and game protector).

Game commission (1895-1899 Fish and game protector) see
Fish commission (1895-1899 Fish and game protector).

Game commission (1899-1911, Game and forestry warden).

The Legislature of 1898 at its special session abolished the office of fish and game protector, substituting in its place that of fish commissioner, but seemingly making no provision for an officer for the enforcement of laws protecting game (1898 p.51-6). The Legislature of 1899 by act approved Feb. 18, established the office of game and forestry warden, whose duty it should be to enforce the laws for the protection of game and forests. He was to be appointed for a four-year term by the Governor and should report annually by Dec. 1 (1899 p.132-40). The amended laws of 1901 continue the office with the same provisions for appointment and reports (1901 p.236-41). By the law of Feb. 23, 1907, the game and forestry warden was made ex officio a member of the state board of forestry (1907 p.241). The game code of Feb. 24, 1909 continues the provisions for appointment of the game and forestry warden (1909 p.406-34). By act of Feb. 21, 1911 this office was superseded by that of state game warden who was to be appointed by the board of fish and game commissioners and who was to be under the supervision of that board. The supervision of forests was by this Legislature placed in the hands of the state forester who was to be appointed by the state board of forestry (1911 p.206-8, 476-83).

Game commission (1920-1921, Game commission of the board of fish and game commissioners).

At the special session of the Legislature in 1920 the board of fish and game commissioners was increased to nine members, eight of them to be elected by the Legislature. Of the eight, five were to be chosen to represent the game interests of the state and were to constitute the game commission of the state board of fish and game commissioners. Two of the five should be from game district no. 1 and two from game district no. 2. The fifth was to be selected from the state at large. The eight thus chosen were at their first meeting and annually thereafter to elect the ninth member who should not be identified with either the game or fishing interests, and who was to be chairman. The two commissions were to meet separately and were to have exclusive jurisdiction over affairs connected with their own province. In case of affairs of joint or conflicting interests, the entire board was to meet and act together (1920 p.13-15).

Game commission (1921 to date).

The Legislature of 1921 did away with the board of fish and game commissioners and established instead a game commission of five members to be appointed by the Governor, two from game district no. 1, two from game district no. 2, and one from the state at large. It was authorized to provide for biological work at its discretion and was to appoint the state game warden. The warden was to report annually to the game commission, which should transmit his report with its own to the Secretary of State (1921 p.86-94).

Governor.

At the meeting on May 19, 1843 of the Legislative Committee of the Provisional Government it was voted that they should recommend to the people that the executive power should be vested in a committee of three (Oregon archives p.20). At the public meeting held July 5, 1843 this recommendation was adopted and an Executive Committee appointed (Oregon archives p.23, 29). By act of June 27, 1844, this was changed to a single person who was to be called the "Executive of Oregon" (Laws 1843-9 p.98-9). By the "Organic Laws of Oregon" adopted July 5, 1845 provision was made that the executive power be vested in a governor (1850/51 p.30-1). By the act of Congress establishing the territorial government the executive officer was to be a governor, to hold office at the pleasure of the President of the U.S. He was to be ex officio commander-in-chief of the militia of the territory and superintendent of Indian affairs (1850/51 p.37). The constitution of the state adopted Sept. 18, 1857, provides that the chief executive officer should be a governor, to be elected by the people (Art. V).

Correspondence.

1873 July 21. Official communication to the Secretary of the Interior relative to the Indian title and rights of settlers in Wallowa Valley, Oregon. In his report on the Modoc War, 1874 p.61-68.

Inaugural address.

Called also both message and inaugural message. As the inaugural address is delivered only by the Governor just assuming office, there is naturally none where he is entering upon a second term or when by death or resignation he is succeeded by the Secretary of State. It is a statement of policy, not a report, and should not be confused with the regular message to the Legislature, although on the title page it is often called message.

1858 July. Whiteaker. House journal 1858 p.25-28.

This so-called "First regular session" met in accordance with provisions adopted by the constitutional convention of 1857. Officers were elected and all preparations made for the state government being immediately set in motion. But although the bill granting statehood had passed the Senate of the U.S., the House failed to act and therefore this session of the Legislature was premature.

Health, Board of

Provision was made by act approved Feb. 17, 1903. It was to consist of six members to be appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, and a secretary was to be appointed by the board, all of them to be physicians, the secretary to be the executive officer, designated "State Health Officer" (1903 p.82-6). Later laws, while extending greatly the supervision of health conditions in the state, make no change in the method of appointment.

Established by the Legislature of 1909. It consisted of five members appointed by the Governor subject to confirmation by the Senate. Its object was to eliminate duplication of courses in the University and Agricultural College and decide what courses should be conducted in each (1909 p.514-16). A letter from the secretary of the board, Jan. 14, 1915, states that no reports have been printed. (S)

Highway Commission

Created by act of Feb. 28, 1913. Composed of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, and authorized to appoint a highway engineer, as well as to have general supervision of the highways of the state (1913 p.663-7). The Legislature of 1915 abolished the office of Highway Engineer and transferred his work to the State Engineer but it provided that the Commission should appoint a chief deputy in the office of the State Engineer (1915 p.537). By act of Feb. 19, 1917 the State Highway Commission was to consist of three persons, one from each congressional district, to be appointed by the Governor. This commission was to appoint a highway engineer and should publish an annual report containing the report of the engineer (1917 p.447-57). The changes in the laws of 1920 and 1921 do not affect these provisions.

Highway Department

Provided for by act approved Feb. 19, 1917. It was to consist of the State Highway Commission, Highway Engineer and all their employees (1917, p.448). The provisions are such as to enable the state to take advantage of the Act of Congress, approved July 11, 1916 (U.S. Statutes at Large p.355) granting aid to the states for the establishment of highways.

Highway Engineer

Office created by act of Feb. 28, 1913. He was to be appointed by the State Highway Commission and was to act in an advisory capacity to county courts in the matter of road construction, as well as to collect and keep on file statistics, information, etc., in regard to roads. Specific direction is given for the preparation of a map showing needed construction of roads. An annual report to the Commission is a requirement (1913 p.663-67). The Legislature of 1915 abolished the office of Highway Engineer and his duties were transferred to the State Engineer (1915 p.537). The highway law approved Feb. 19, 1917, again made provision for a Highway Engineer called in this act the "Engineer", to be appointed as before by the Highway Commission (1917 p.447-57). Changes in the law of 1921 do not affect these provisions.

With the abolition of the office of Highway Engineer by the Legislature of 1915 no separate report was issued for 1915/16. The report of the Highway Department is included in that of the State Engineer for 1915-16 p.7-112.

1916 (Dec. 1) - 1917 (Nov. 30). 47p.

Later reports are included in the report of the Highway Commission.

Horticulture, Board of

Created by act approved Feb. 25, 1889. It consisted of six members appointed by the Governor, one from the state at large and one each from five districts. Provision is made for a secretary and for an "inspector of pests." Biennial reports and other reports at the discretion of the Board are requirements (1889 p.126-30). The Legislature of 1891 changed the provision for appointment by the Governor to appointment by a board consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer (1891 p.174-5). The Legislature of 1895 provided that the members and secretary of the board shall visit places suspected of being infected with fruit pests and perform the duties formerly performed by the "inspector of pests" (1895 p.35-6). The Legislature of 1899 made the provision that the member at large should be the president and executive officer of the board. By this law the work of inspection devolved upon the president (1899 p. 55-8). The Legislature of 1905 provided for county inspectors, each under the direction of the commissioner of the district in which the county is located (1905 p.383-6). The Legislature of 1913 again provided for a state inspector (1913 p.378). The Legislature of 1915 dispensed with the member at large, reducing the board to five members, one from each of the five districts. The president was to be elected by the board from their own number and the secretary from without their number (1915 p.557-8).

Immigration Agent.

Office created by act of Feb. 23, 1911. The agent was to be appointed by the Governor, was to cooperate with the Oregon Development League and the Commerce Department of the Agricultural College in the preparation and distribution of literature concerning the resources, etc., of the state (1911 p.373-4). This law was amended by the 1913 Legislature so as to place the Agent under the direction of the State Immigration Commission (1913 p.557-8). The Legislature of 1915 abolished the office. (1915 p.16). The biennial reports for the years 1911-12 and 1913-14 are included in the reports of the Immigration Commission for those years.

Immigration, State board of see Immigration commission.
Immigration Commission.

Created by act of Oct. 28, 1874. It was to consist of five members appointed by the Governor. It was called Oregon State Board of Immigration. Provision was also made for the appointment of honorary commissioners in foreign countries and in other states to invite emigration to this state and to act for the state in circulating information in regard to the resources (1874 p.113). The Legislature of 1885 changed the name to State Board of Immigration Commissioners but it appears on the publications as State Immigration Commission (1885 p.33-4). The Legislature of 1913 gave to this Commission the supervision of the office of Immigration Agent which had been authorized by the Legislature of 1911 (1911 p.557-8). The Commission was abolished by the Legislature of 1919 (1919 p.89).

Reports.

- 1875 (Jan. 1) - 1876 (Sept. 2). To 9th Legislature 1876. 10p. Also Mes.&doc. 1876; Senate journal 1876 p.47-54.
The Commission seemingly stopped work during at least part of the period before the 1887 report, as that report speaks of the Portland Board of Trade doing the work of an immigration commission prior to 1885.
- 1885 (Apr. 1) - 1886 (Oct. 31). To 14th Legislature 1887. 23p. Also Mes. & doc. 1887.
The Commission had evidently lapsed during the period ending in 1911, or part of it, when the State Immigration Agent was authorized, as the report for 1911-12 speaks of the Commission having been newly appointed under the law of 1885.
- 1911-1912. To 27th Legislature 1913. 11p. Also Mes. & doc. 1911-12 v.2.

Insurance Commissioner.

The first law regarding insurance companies was passed by the Legislature of 1864 and amended at the special session of 1965 (1864, Deady Code, p.745-6; 1865, p.21-3). The law of Feb. 25, 1887, made the Secretary of State ex officio Insurance Commissioner, provision being made for such publications as might be necessary (1887 p.118-25). The Legislature of 1909 created the Department of Insurance, designating the executive officer Insurance Commissioner. He was to be appointed by the Governor. An annual report to the Governor was required (1909 p.388-401). The insurance code adopted in 1917 sets Dec. 31 as the date for the report, and also the Insurance Commissioner is made ex officio fire marshal (1917 p.314-5, 524-30). Although not required by law, the Secretary of State included in his biennial reports from 1872 to 1876 and from 1880 to 1895 statements of the insurance companies doing business in the state. Although regular reports were issued from 1896 to 1908, a summary is also given in the reports of the Secretary of State for those years. For publications as Fire Marshal see that designation. Under this title of Insurance Commissioner are listed only those publications issued while the Secretary of State was commissioner. For later publications see Insurance department.

Insurance Department.

Previous to 1909 the Secretary of State had been ex officio Insurance Commissioner. The Legislature of this year created an Insurance Department of which the Insurance Commissioner was to be the head (1909 p.388-401). The Legislature of 1917 made the Insurance Commissioner ex officio Fire Marshal (1917 p.524-30), and in 1919 the supervision of real estate business was placed in the hands of the Insurance Commissioner. The following Legislature established the office of Real Estate Commissioner and publications are listed under that heading.

La Grande District, Register of State Lands for.

The office was created by act of Oct. 26, 1868. The register was to be elected by the Legislature and to have charge of state lands in this district, but under the Board of Land Commissioners (1868 p.22-7). The law approved Feb. 21, 1887 makes the provision that payments for land selected by the state be made to the U.S. Land Office and all acts in conflict with this are repealed. This does away with state land offices.

Land Agent.

The Legislature of 1875 authorized the Governor to appoint a Land Agent to select lands to which the state was entitled (1878 p.41-5). The law of Feb. 19, 1895 makes further provision for the Land Agent. The Legislature of 1913 by act of Jan. 27 abolished the office and transferred his duties to the clerk of the Land Board (1913 p.53).

Land Board.

By act of Congress approved Aug. 14, 1848, giving Oregon her territorial government, sections 16 and 36 in each township were set aside for schools (1850/51 p.46). The Legislature of 1855/56 passed an act providing for the sale of the school lands in each county by the county school superintendent (1855/56 p.69-71). The constitution adopted at statehood provided that the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer should constitute a Board of Commissioners for the Sale of School and University Lands (Art. VIII, sec. 5). The act of admission of Feb. 14, 1859, offers the state land for various purposes, the Governor being designated to select the university land and that for public buildings, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the General Land Office (1860 p.29). In accordance with this provision, the Legislature of 1862 designated the Governor as Land Commissioner and directed him to locate the lands granted to the state (1862 p.105-7). The Legislature of 1864 repealed the law of 1862 and placed the sale of these lands in charge of a Board of Land Commissioners composed of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer (Gen. laws 1845-1864 p.884-7). Extensions of its work were made by the Legislatures of 1866 and 1868. By the Legislature of 1872 the sale of lands for the Agricultural College was added to its duties (1872 p.133). By act approved Oct. 18, 1878 the same Board was authorized to sell lands to which the state was entitled, the Governor being appointed Land Commissioner, with authority to locate them. The Board was empowered to appoint a clerk, and the Governor to appoint an agent to select the land (1878 p.41-5). An act approved Feb. 19, 1895 makes still further provisions for the land agent (1895 p.7-8). The law approved Feb. 18, 1899 provides for the same Board but calls it "State Land Board" (1899 p.156-64). A law approved Feb. 28, 1901 extended its authority over the desert lands in accordance with the provisions of the Carey act (1901 p.378-83). The Legislature of 1907 revised the law but provisions for the personnel of the Board and officials remain the same (1907 p.206-21). The Legislature of 1909 transferred the control of the desert lands under the Carey act to a newly created "Desert Land Board" (1909 p.377-83). An act passed Jan. 27, 1913 abolished the office of land agent and placed his duties upon the clerk of the Board (1913 p.53). An act of Feb. 20, 1917 extended the duties of the board to include the supervision of the rural credit loans (1917 p.832-5). The Board was called from 1866 to 1878 "Board of Commissioners for Sale of School Lands and the Management of School Funds" and from 1879 to 1899 "Board of Land Commissioners."

Land Commissioner.

By act of Congress (Feb. 14, 1859) admitting Oregon as a state, the Governor was designated to select the university lands and those for public building purposes, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the General Land Office (1859 p.29). By act approved Oct. 15, 1862 the Governor was appointed Land Commissioner and directed to locate the lands granted in the above admission act (1862 p.105-7). The Legislature of 1864 repealed this law, and the sale of public lands was transferred to the Board of Land Commissioners (General laws 1845-1864 p.884-7). By the Legislature of 1878 the Governor was once more designated Commissioner with power to locate lands, with the privilege of appointing a land agent to select them (1878 p.41-55). No reports have been found separately from the general ones of the Land Board and Land Agent.

Library, State.

The act of Congress organizing the territorial government, approved Aug. 14, 1848, appropriated $5000.00 for the purchase of a library for the use of the Legislature and state officials (1850/51 p.46). The Legislature of 1850/51 made provision for a librarian to be elected by the Legislative Assembly annually (1850/51 p.165-6). Amendments at the two following sessions make no change in these provisions. The first state Legislature continued the provisions for the State Library, making an appropriation for the purchase of books. The Legislature continued to elect the librarian but the requirement for a report was changed to biennial (1860 p.64-5). The Legislature of 1864, considering that the law providing for the State Library was "wholly inadequate" passed a new law which made the Secretary of State superintendent of the library. The provisions for the election of the librarian and his reports remain the same but he is made answerable to the Secretary of State (1864 Deady code, p.762-3). The Legislature of 1905 changed the supervision of the library from the Secretary of State to the Supreme Court and this Court was to appoint the librarian (1905 p.85-6). By act of Feb. 23, 1907, the State Librarian was made state custodian of all state documents and had charge of their distribution (1907 p.150-2). By the law of Feb. 25, 1913, the library up to this time known as the State Library, was changed to the Supreme Court Library, and the laws formerly applying to the State Library were to apply thereafter to the Supreme Court Library and to the librarian of the Supreme Court Library. The library previously known as that of the Library Commission became the State Library, the Library Commission was thenceforth to be designated as the Trustees of the State Library, and the Secretary of the Library Commission became the State Librarian. The Supreme Court Library was to be purely a law library and other functions it had performed were thenceforth to belong to the State Library, which continued to be the custodian of the state documents (1915 p.264-5).

Library Commission.

The Legislature of 1905 by act of Feb. 9, enacted a law creating a Library Commission for the purpose of giving advice and aid to communities, schools and libraries as to methods of establishing and conducting libraries, etc. It was to be composed of the Governor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, President of the State University, Librarian of the Library Association of Portland, and one person appointed by the Governor. The executive officer was to be a secretary to be appointed by the Commission. Provision is made for such publications as may be needed and a biennial report by Jan. 1 is specified (1905, p.104-6). Amendments to the law in 1907 make no changes in these provisions. By the law of Feb. 25, 1913, the Library Commission was hereafter to be designated as the Trustees of the State Library, its library was to be the State Library, the Secretary of the Library Commission was to become the State Librarian, the provisions as to duties which applied before to the Library Commission and its secretary were to apply in the future to the Trustees of the State Library and the State Librarian (1913 p.263-5). For all publications after 1912, see Library, State.

Livestock Sanitary Board.

Created by an act of Jan. 24, 1913. The Secretary of the State Board of Health was to be an ex-officio member. The other six were to be appointed by the Governor, all of them to be actually engaged in the breeding of livestock within the state and to be qualified electors. At least two members should reside east of the Cascade Range and two west. Two were to be nominated by the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association; two by the executive committee of the Oregon Purebred Livestock Association; two by the Oregon State Dairymen's Association. Annual reports were specified and they were authorized to issue such publications as would promote the animal industry of the state. The Board was to have the appointment and supervision of the State Veterinarian. This Board was to be ex-officio the Board of Sheep Commissioners and the State Veterinarian became automatically the State Sheep Inspector (1913 p.34-53). The Legislature of 1921 changed the law by substituting the president of the Cattle and Horse Raisers' Association for the Secretary of the State Board of Health as the ex-officio member of the Board (1921 p.525ff).

Mines and Geology, Bureau of

Created by act of Feb. 28, 1913, superseding the Bureau of Mines. It was to investigate the mineral resources of the state, make special reports of the results of such investigations and to collect and compile statistics. The Bureau was authorized to cooperate with other organizations making systematic investigations or surveys. Its executive officer was to be a director and it was to be under the supervision of the Commission on the Bureau of Mines and Geology (1913 p.632-5). By act of Feb. 27, 1919 it was directed especially to cooperate with the State Highway Commission and to report to it the results of investigations along proposed routes (1919 p.272-3). By act approved Feb. 24, 1923, appropriations were made for the closing of the bureau and provisions were made for ending its activities by June 1 of that year (1923 p.393-94). Such manuscript reports and other material as were in preparation were turned over to the Department of Mines of the Oregon Agricultural College.

Created by act of Feb. 21, 1905. It was to be appointed by the Governor and was to consist of three persons engaged in the actual practice of optometry, and residing in Oregon (1905 p.248-52). The Legislature of 1907 added the provision that the Oregon State Association of Optometrists should furnish three names for each member of the board to be appointed, from which the Governor should make the appointment (1907 p.222-3). Later Legislatures added requirements for eligibility to the board but made no change in method of appointment. An annual report is specified but no publications have been found except the lists of registered optometrists listed below. The Legislature of 1919 did away with the provision for nomination by the State Association of Optometrists.

Penitentiary Building Commissioners, Board of

The Provisional Government in 1844 authorized the "Executive Power" to erect a "substantial log jail" at Oregon City, the money to be taken from the estate of Ewing Young who left no heirs (1843-9, p.94). The Territorial Legislature of 1850/51, in the law providing for public buildings, located the penitentiary at Portland and appointed a board of commissioners to superintend its erection (1850/51 p.222-3). The Legislature of 1852/53 again passed a law establishing the penitentiary at Portland and appointing a board of commissioners to superintend its erection (1852/53 p.31-4). The work had been delayed by the refusal of the Governor to approve the bonds of the "acting commissioner." The Legislature of 1853/54 provided that a board of three commissioners be elected by the Legislature to construct the penitentiary on the site selected by the previous commission and to provide for the management of the prison (1853/54 p.519-20). These commissions were to report at each session of the Legislature. The Legislature of 1856/57 provided that the Governor was to appoint a superintendent for the current year and thereafter he was to be elected by the Legislature (1856/57 p.9-13). This law also abolishes the Board of Penitentiary Commissioners. In 1864 when the seat of government had been decided upon, provision was made for a board of commissioners consisting of the superintendent and two others selected by the Legislature at that session, who were to acquire sites for penitentiary and insane asylum, erect temporary buildings preparatory to the erection of permanent ones; upon the removal of the prisoners to these buildings they were to dispose of the previous ones and were to have charge of the plans for the erection of permanent buildings (1866 p.95-8).

Pharmacy, Board of

Created by the Legislature of 1891. It was to consist of five members appointed by the Governor from competent pharmacists of the state who were to examine those desiring to become registered pharmacists (1891 p.157-61). Later laws, while prescribing further qualifications for the members of the Board, make no change in the number or method of appointment. The Legislature of 1913 in addition to the regulation of the practice of pharmacy in the state gives the Board also the power to regulate the sale of poisons (1913 p.280-91).

Pilot Commissioners, Board of

The first provision for supervision of pilotage on the Columbia River was made by the Provisional Government by act approved Dec. 16, 1846. The Governor was authorized with the advice and consent of four commissioners appointed by him, to examine candidates for the pilotage and to appoint those who were satisfactory. The Board was also to supervise and regulate the pilotage (1843-49 p.46-7). An act passed Sept. 19, 1849 appointed the Governor, John W. Couch and Nathaniel Crosby the Board of Pilot Commissioners to examine and license pilots and regulate pilotage (1850/51 p.184-5). The Legislature of 1855/56 made the Governor chairman of the Board and provided that the Legislature should biennially elect two members, the three to constitute the Board (1855/56 p.22-5). The Legislature of 1860 by act approved Oct. 17, changed the personnel by leaving the Governor off the Board and providing that three members be elected by the Legislature biennially. The report was thereafter to be biennial instead of annual (1860 p.43-5). The Legislature of 1868 authorizes to board to appoint a secretary, and provides that neither the members nor the secretary have any interest in any pilot or tug boat (1868 p.28-33). The Legislature of 1882 by act approved Oct. 20, provides that one of the three commissioners should be appointed by the Governor, one by the Board of Trade of Portland, and one by the Chamber of Commerce of Astoria. In case either of the latter fails to appoint, the Governor should make the appointment (1882 p.15-23). The Legislature of 1885 by act approved Feb. 18, restores the provision for election of the commissioners by the Legislature biennially (1885 p.34-7). Sundry changes of qualifications as to experience and residence are made by these two Legislatures as well as by those of 1887, 1889, 1891, 1893, 1899 and 1909.

Port of Portland Commission.

The Legislature of 1891 granted a charter to the "Port of Portland" for the purpose of improving the Willamette and Columbia rivers from Portland to the sea. That part of "Multnomah co. lying west of the east boundary line of range 2, east of the Willamette meridian, and south of the north boundary line of township 1, north of the base line" was created a separate district to be known as the "Port of Portland" and the inhabitants were constituted a corporation by the name of the "Port of Portland." The power and authority given to the Port of Portland was to be vested in a Board of Commissioners to be composed of W. S. Ladd, Henry Failing, C. H. Lewis, James Steel, T. M. Richardson, John McCracken, G. B. Markle, E. D. McKee, John E. Lombard and Ellis G. Hughes from Portland; Cyrus Buckman, Dav. Raf-fety and S. E. Josephi of East Portland; and W. M. Killingsworth and J. H. Steffen of Albina. In providing for filling vacancies in the Board there should be at all times ten from Portland, three from East Portland and two from Albina (1891 p.791-5). The Legislature of 1899 designated John McCracken, T. B. Wilcox, C. E. Ladd, E. G. Hughes, J. C. Flanders, J. A. Brown, M. A. McEachern, G. H. Hill and E. T. Williams as the Board of Commissioners, thus reducing the number to nine and no longer making the condition for the representation of East Portland and Albina, the three cities having in the meantime been consolidated (1899 p.146-50). The Legislature of 1901 changed the provision for boundary to read "that part of Multnomah Co. . . . which lies west of the east boundary line of range 2 east of the Willamette meridian." This law adds to its powers for improving the channel that of building a dry dock, and it may contract with the government of the U.S. to do such work as it desires. It reduces the number to seven (1901 p.417-33). The Legislature of 1919 provides for a term of office of four years (1919 p.825-6). The Legislature provided for the consolidation of the Port of Portland and the Portland Dock Commission, with the possibility of the Port of Portland acquiring the docks under the control of the Dock Commission, at its session in 1921. The Board was to be composed of nine members, the first Board being appointed by this act and thereafter to be appointed by the Governor. Provision was also made for the Board in the event of the Port acquiring the docks from the Dock Commission (1921 p.105-12). The Legislature of 1925 changed the provision for appointment of the commissioners by the Governor, to election by the Legislature (1925 p.35-7). Under the present [1925] arrangement, publications concerned only with the docks are issued by the Dock Commission; those with the harbor by the Port of Portland.

Portage Commissioners, Board of

The Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer were by act approved Feb. 16, 1891, constituted a Board of Portage Commissioners to build and operate a portage railway at the Cascades and at Celilo on the Columbia River (1891 p.39-41). The high water in the summers of 1894 and 1896 together with difficulties due to the construction of the Cascade Locks, made it inadvisable to do necessary repair work and therefore the Board asked the Legislature for authority to dispose of all property connected with the portage railway (Biennial report 1895-6). There is no mention of work being undertaken at Celilo. In 1903 a law similar to that of 1891 was passed for the purpose of constructing a portage railway at Celilo, the Board again being composed of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer (1903 p.108-9). The Legislature of 1907 changed the name to Board of Portage Railway Commissioners and provided that the Board should consist of three members to be appointed by the Governor (1907 p.172-4). The Legislature of 1909 authorized the extension of the railway (1909 p.149-51). At the completion of the Celilo canal, there was no longer need for this portage, the Board was abolished by the Legislature of 1915 and the property turned over to the Board of Control for disposal (1915 p.209).

State Printer.

Provision for a printer was first made by the Territorial Legislature of 1850/51 which passed a law that the Legislative Assembly on joint ballot should elect annually a Territorial Printer. By this law the Secretary of State was to superintend the printing and the distribution of documents (1850/51 p.223-4). The Legislature of 1851/52 took the supervision of the printing from the Secretary of State and placed the responsibility not only for the printing but for the distribution of the documents upon the Printer (1851/52 p.58-60). The Legislature of 1853/54 changed the provision for election annually to biennially and made it the duty of the Secretary of State to procure a practical printer to see that the work of the Territorial Printer was satisfactory (1853/54 p.431-3). The state constitution changes the provision for election from the Legislature to the voters at the general election and lengthened the term of office to four years (Art. XII). A law passed at the session of 1860 specifies that his term shall cease on the first day of the regular session next following the general election (1860 p.21,72). Amendments were made by several Legislatures as to details of printing but did not affect those provisions. By vote of the people at the election of June 4, 1906, Art. XII. of the constitution, providing for the election of the State Printer, was so amended that laws might be enacted providing for the state printing and for the election or appointment of the State Printer. Until such laws were enacted the previous provisions for his election were to remain in force (Olsen Code, v.1, p.179). The Legislature of 1907 transferred the distribution of the state documents to the State Librarian (1907 p.150-2). The Legislature of 1909 passed two laws regulating details of the printing, the later one re-enacting the provision for the election of the Printer quadrennially and for the delivery of documents to the State Librarian as custodian (1909 p.401-6). The Legislature of 1911 passed an act creating the State Printing Board to consist of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer. This Board should have supervision of the state printing department. It should also appoint a responsible and qualified practical printer as its secretary. The State Printer was still to be elected by the people every four years but it is required that he should have not less than ten years' experience in printing. Up to this time the printing plant had been owned by the State Printer. This law permits the State to purchase the equipment (1911 p.458-63). The Legislature of 1913 gives the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, acting as the Board of Control full control of the public printing, including authority to appoint the State Printer (1913 p.667-8). Changes made by later Legislatures do not affect these provisions.

Public Buildings at the Seat of Government, Board of Commissioners to Erect.

The Legislature of 1850/51 passed a law establishing the seat of government at Salem and appointing a board of commissioners to superintend the erection of buildings (1850/51 p.222-3). The Governor considered this law unconstitutional, and in Dec. 1851, he, with his appointees and two of the justices of the Supreme Court, remained in Oregon City as the capital, while the Legislature met in Salem. The Council on Dec. 12 passed a resolution (Council res. 8) requesting an opinion on the constitutionality of the law from Judge O. C. Pratt (Council journal 1851/52 p.16). This opinion is given in Council journal 1851/52 Appendix p.7-33. The opinions of Justice Strong and Justice Nelson are in U.S. 32nd Congress, First session, House Executive Document 94, p.6-21 (Serial no. 644). Congress finally settled the dispute by confirming Salem as the capital. The Legislature of 1854/55 passed an act locating the capital at Corvallis and appointing a new board of commissioners (1854/55 p.558). Upon the decision of the U.S. Treasury Department that the money appropriated for the building at Salem could not be used elsewhere, the Legislature of 1855/56 changed the location back to Salem, but specified that this act should not be so construed as to appoint or retain in office any commissioner previously selected (1855/56 p.65-6). The burning of the nearly completed capitol was the occasion for submitting the whole question of location to the people by whom it was finally decided at the election of 1864 that it should be at Salem. For an account of the controversy see Oregon Historical Quarterly IX (June, 1908) 173-8. No further board was appointed until the provision for the building of the state capitol in 1872. For the reports of this later board see Capitol Building Commissioners.

Public Instruction, Superintendent of

A school law passed Sept. 6, 1849, provided that there should be elected triennially by the Legislature a Superintendent of Common Schools to have supervision of the schools of this territory.

He was to report annually to the Legislature (1850/51 p.68). The Legislature of 1850/51 abolished the office, delegating its duties to the county superintendents of schools (1850/51 p.76). The state constitution (Art. VIII) made the Governor Superintendent of Public Instruction with such powers and duties as should be prescribed by law. After five years from the adoption of the constitution authority was given the Legislature to provide for the election of a Superintendent and prescribed his powers and duties (1860 p.17-18). The Legislature of 1872 passed a law providing for a Superintendent of Public Instruction as a separate office. The first one should be elected by joint ballot of that Legislature, his successors at the general election of 1874 and every four years thereafter. He was to be a member of the Board of Education and to act as its secretary (1872 p.146-51). Changes by later Legislatures of school laws do not affect these provisions.

Public Service Commission

Previous to 1915 the work of the Public Service Commission had been done by the Railroad Commission, created in 1907 to have supervision over railroads only, but having its power extended in 1911 to all public utilities. The Legislature of 1915 changed its name to Public Service Commission to conform to its extended authority (1915 p.347). The Legislature of 1917 added requirements as to contents of annual reports (1917 p.29-30). It also extended the authority of the Commission to cover public and terminal warehouses and it was empowered to appoint an inspector and to establish standard grades for grain (1917 p.160-6). Another extension at the special session of 1921 covered the regulation of motor vehicles used for compensation (1921 Spec. sess. p.35-40). The Legislature of 1923 transferred to the Market Agent the inspection of grain.

Railroad Commission

The Legislature of 1887 had established a Board of Railroad Commissioners, abolished in 1898 at the special session. In 1907 the Legislature again made provision for a Railroad Commission, to be composed of three members. The Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer were to appoint the first Commission and thereafter the members were to be elected by the people at the general election, the Commission to appoint the secretary. Its province as before was to investigate and supervise matters pertaining to railroads (1907 p. 67-99). The Legislature of 1911 extended the authority of the Commission to cover all public utilities as well as railroads (1911 p.483-509). The Legislature of 1915 changed the name to Public Service Commission in order that it might correspond to the extension of duties (1915 p.347). For the earlier report see Railroad Commissioners, Board of. For all later reports and other publications see Public Service Commission.

Railroad Commissioners, Board of.

This board was created by act approved Feb. 18, 1887. It was to consist of two qualified electors to be appointed by the Governor from each of the two political parties for a term of four years. At the session of the Legislature next preceding the expiration of their term of office, the Governor with the consent of the Senate was to appoint their successors, one from each of the political parties casting the highest and next to highest votes in the last general election. The Board was to appoint a clerk. It was to supervise the railroads of the state, investigate conditions, etc. In case of failure to agree in any matter, it was to be referred to the Governor who should become a member of the Board for the purpose of deciding such matters (1887 p.30-7). The Legislature of 1889 enlarged the Board to three and provided that they should be elected biennially by the Legislature, not more than two being from the same political party (1889 p.22-3). The Legislature of 1891 enlarged the powers of the Board but made no change in its method of appointment (1891 p.123-9). The Legislature at its special session in 1898 repealed all these laws and abolished the Board (1898 p.4, 24-5). The Board was not re-established until 1907, when a Railroad Commission was created.

Real Estate Commissioner

The Legislature of 1919 passed a law regulating the business of real estate brokers, requiring licenses and bonds from them, etc. The enforcement of the act was placed in the hands of the Insurance Commissioner (1919 p.238-41). The Legislature of 1921 created the office of Real Estate Commissioner, providing that the Insurance Commissioner should be ex officio Real Estate Commissioner. He was to appoint a deputy who should be under his direction and subject to removal at his pleasure. An annual list of licensed real estate brokers was to be published (1921 p.438-45). The act of 1925 continued these provisions (1925 p.500-11).

office, the legal designation is given as Real Estate Commissioner (1921 p.438). Publications are entered under that name.

Reform School Building Commissioners, Board of.

The first provision for a reform school for juvenile offenders was made by the Legislature of 1889, which established a Board of Reform School Building Commissioners, designating the Governor as president of the Board, and the Secretary of State and the Superintendent of Public Instruction as the other members. This Board was to superintend the erection of a building, make such rules and regulations as it deemed advisable and report its transactions at the following session of the Legislature. It was also empowered to make and enforce such rules for the conduct of the school as it deemed proper and to appoint a superintendent and other employees (1889 p.15-8). At the next session of the Legislature in 1891 this Board was constituted the regular Board for the management of the reform school and all later publications are entered under Reform School.

Secretary of State.

At the first meeting of the people of the Willamette Valley, Feb. 17, 1841, among the officers proposed was a Public Recorder (Oregon Archives p.3). These first meetings did not result in any organization. The report of the Legislative Committee, adopted at the public meeting of July 5, 1843 as "organic laws," provided for a Recorder to be elected by the people at the annual election (Archives, p.30). By the organic law adopted July 5, 1845, provision was made that the House of Representatives should at its first meeting proceed to elect and define the duties of a Secretary, Recorder, etc. (1850/51 p.30). The act of Congress establishing the territorial government in Oregon provided for a Secretary of the Territory who, in case of death or removal or absence of the Governor, should perform his duties till his successor should be appointed. He was to be appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate (1850/51 p.38, 42). The state constitution adopted in 1857, provided that the Secretary of State should be elected by the people at the general election. His term of office should be four years and he was not to hold office more than eight in any period of twelve years (1860, p.14, Art. VII). The duties of the Secretary of State are prescribed by the Legislature of 1859 (1859 p.5-7) and by later Legislatures.

Aircraft registration.

The Legislature of 1921 passed a law requiring the registration of aircraft with the Secretary of State (1921 p.73-5). No requirement is made as to reports but the list of such registrations is included in the reports to the Legislatures of 1923 and 1925.

Articles of incorporation.

The Legislature of 1862 made provision for the registration of articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State and this provision has remained through all the changes in the laws governing corporations (1862 p.4-5). There is no requirement for reports. The lists of corporations to which articles of incorporation had been granted appear in the reports of the Secretary of State to the Legislatures of 1866 to 1911 inclusive.

Budget.

The Legislature of 1913 made provision for the filing in the office of the Secretary of State of all estimates and claims and desired appropriations on or before Nov. 15 of each even numbered year. The Secretary of State was required to tabulate these by Dec. 15 of such year and transmit the tabulation to members of the Legislature on or before the opening date (1913 p.542-4). The Legislature of 1921 provided that the Board of Control should constitute the Budget Commission and later estimates are entered under that name.

Building and Loan Associations.

The law of 1895 regulating building and loan associations provided that the Secretary of State should keep record of and annually examine these associations to see whether their securities had been deposited as required by this act (1895 p.103-13). The Legislature of 1915 transferred the supervision of these to the Corporation Commissioner (1915 p.321). No requirement is given as to reports but the Secretary of State gives brief statements in his reports to the Legislatures of 1897, 1899, 1901, 1911, 1913.

Census returns.

The constitution of Oregon adopted at its admission as a state provided that the Legislature should in 1865 and every ten years thereafter cause an enumeration to be made of all the white population of the state (1860 p.8, Article IV, sec.5). This section is still in the constitution (Olsen code). In 1864 the Legislature passed a law providing that the county assessors at the time of assessing their respective counties, in 1865 and every ten years thereafter, should take an enumeration of the inhabitants and industrial products of the same. The form of the enumeration roll is specified. The assessors were to return these records to the county clerk who should retain a copy in his office and send the originals to the Secretary of State, who was to place them on file in his office (General laws 1845-64, p.631-2). The Legislature of 1915 repealed this measure (1915 p.25), so that while the section in the constitution still provides for a census there is no provision for carrying it out.

Expenditures of candidates for election.

The corrupt practices act of 1909 provides that candidates for election should file with the Secretary of State a statement of the expenses incurred by them (1909 p.15 ff). The amended law of 1913 continues this provision (1913 p.399 ff). Neither law requires a report of such statements but they are included in the biennial report to the Legislatures of 1913-1925.

Sheep Commissioners, Board of.

Created by act of Feb. 25, 1907. It was to consist of three members, sheep owners, one from each of the three districts into which this law divided the state. They were to be appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. The Board was to appoint a state sheep inspector and to supervise his work. The inspector was to report annually to the Board and the Board was to make his report a part of their annual report to the Governor (1907 p.383-96). The law of 1913 creating a Livestock Sanitary Board, makes that Board ex officio the Board of Sheep Commissioners and the state veterinarian ex officio state sheep inspector (1913 p.34-53).

Stallion Registration Board.

Established by the Legislature of 1911 for the purpose of registering stallions and jacks, and regulating their use. Such work as had been done previously, had been under the charge of the Agricultural College. This Board was to be composed of the president of the State Board of Agriculture, Director of the State Experiment Station, and State Veterinarian. The president of the Board of Agriculture was to be president and the Board was authorized to employ a secretary (1911 p.345-53). Later changes do not affect these provisions.

Stove Foundry.

A contract was made with the Northwestern Foundry Company in 1883, by which this company leased the convict labor for ten years (Penitentiary Report 1893 p.4). The Legislature of 1893 made appropriation for the purchase of this plant (1893 p.22), the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer being authorized to make the purchase, to operate the plant and sell the products. In 1895 the plant was leased to J. Loewenburg (Report 1899 p.3). A joint committee was appointed at the special session of 1898 to investigate and report to the session of 1899 (1898 p.272, 269). This report giving the recommendations of the committee for settlement was presented at the session of 1899 and adopted with some amendments (House journal 1899 p.31-4, 373). The arrangement was carried out according to this report (Penitentiary report 1901, p.3). Although the contract with the Loewenburg-Going Company expired in July, 1905, no action was taken with regard to it by the 1905 Legislature and the contract was renewed for two years more (Penitentiary report 1907, p.4-5).

Supreme Court.

Article VII of the report of the Legislative Committee upon the Judiciary, in the organization of the Provisional Government, provided that "the judicial power shall be vested in a Supreme Court, consisting of a supreme judge and two justices of the peace" (Oregon Archives p.30). The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court was to be both appellate and original. The "organic law" as adopted by the people July 26, 1845, continued the provision for a Supreme Court which was to consist of one judge. By this law his jurisdiction was to be appellate only, though the House of Representatives might provide for original jurisdiction in criminal cases. This court was to have supervisory power over the lower courts (1850/51 p.31). The act of Congress organizing the Oregon Territory, provided for a Supreme Court consisting of a chief justice and two associate justices (1850/51 p.41). The Legislature of 1850/51 passed a law defining its jurisdiction (1850/51 p.254-7). The state constitution adopted in 1857, provided for a Supreme Court of four justices to be chosen "in districts by the electors thereof." The number might be increased but was not to exceed seven (Constitution Article VII). The Legislature of 1878 made provision for the election of three justices in 1880 (Hill Code p.1093). The Legislature of 1909 increased the number to five (1909 p.50) and the Legislature of 1913 to seven (1913 ch.167).

Tax Commission.

The report of the Legislative Committee upon Ways and Means at the organization of the Provisional Government, approved by the people at public meeting July 5, 1843, provided that a subscription paper should be put into circulation to collect funds for defraying the expenses of the government (Oregon Archives p.27). The report of the Legislative Committee of June 27, 1844, provided that the Executive Committee should appoint an assessor to assess the revenue of Oregon (1843-49 p.93). At the same time it was enacted that after 1844, the assessor of revenues should be elected by the eligible electors as were the other officials (1843-49 p.83). An act approved Dec. 12, 1845, provided that the sheriffs in their respective districts should be ex officio collectors of revenue and that it should be the duty of said collectors "immediately after Jan. 1 to complete the assessments and collection of revenue for . . . 1845" (1843-49 p.25-6). A law approved Dec. 28, 1847, continues the provision that the sheriffs make the assessments but adds the requirement that after the assessments are made, the sheriff should notify the judges of the county court, two of whom should constitute a quorum to equalize the assessment, the clerk then to make out and deliver to the sheriff for collection a book showing the amount due from each person (1843-49 p.54-5). The Territorial Legislature of 1850/51 provided that an assessor should be elected in each county. The probate court was to levy the tax each year, adding to that of the county a tax of 1/2 mill for territorial purposes (1850/51 p.226-37). The Legislature of 1853/54 made the Board of Commissioners of each county the body to levy the tax (1853/54 p.397-417). By act approved Feb. 26, 1885, the Governor, the Secretary of State and State Treasurer were annually to compute jointly the amount of revenue necessary and the rate of taxation, apportioning the revenues among the counties. The transcript of these calculations was to be included in the biennial report of the Secretary of State (1885 p.135-6). Later changes in the tax laws did not affect these provisions, until the Legislature of 1909 created a Board of two tax commissioners who with the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer as ex officio commissioners, were to compose the Board. These two commissioners were to devote all their time to this work and were to be appointed by the ex officio commissioners. This Board was to exercise more supervision and control of the taxes than had been the case with the previous Board to Determine Taxes, and the equalization of the assessments between counties was to be made by it. It was authorized to employ a secretary (1909 p.345-64). The Legislature of 1913 changed the name to State Tax Commission (1913 p.359-80). The Legislature of 1917 changed the number of appointed commissioners to one, the ex officio members remaining the same. No secretary is provided for, the one commissioner evidently to perform the duties of secretary (1917 p.445-7).

Treasurer.

The report of the "Legislative Committee upon the Judiciary" adopted at the public meeting July 5, 1843, provided for a Treasurer to be elected by the qualified electors (Oregon Archives p.30). The organic law adopted by the people, July 5, 1845, provides that the House of Representatives should, at the same time as the other officers, elect a Treasurer (1850/51 p.30). The Territorial Legislature of 1850/51 enacted a law organizing the Treasury Department which was to embrace the offices of Auditor and Treasurer (1850/51 p.263-9). The Legislature of 1853/54 provided for a Treasury Department, the Treasurer to be commissioned by the Governor (1853/54 p.417-8). The constitution adopted in 1857 provided that the Treasurer should be elected in the same manner as the other officers (Article VI, sec. 1). The Legislature of 1859 in preparing the details for the organization of the State, enacted a law prescribing the duties of the Treasurer among the other officials (1859 p.3-8). The Secretary of State had been made an ex officio Auditor by the constitution.

University Land Commissioner.

By act of Congress approved Sept. 27, 1848, providing for a survey of lands in Oregon, two townships west of the Cascade Range, one north and one south of the Columbia River, were to be given to the Territory to aid in the establishment of a University (1850/51 p.51-2). Laws of 1851/52 provided that a Commissioner should be elected by the Legislature to have charge of the sale of lands granted by Congress to the state for a University, a Board of Commissioners being appointed by the Legislature to locate them (1851/52 p.56-8). An act passed Jan. 30, 1855, provides that the Land Commissioner be empowered to select and locate the two townships given for university purposes (1854/55, p.566-7). The constitution adopted upon Oregon's admission as a state, provides that the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer should constitute a Board of Commissioners for the Sale of School and University Lands and the university lands are thenceforth in the hands of the Land Board (Constitution Article VIII. Sec. 5).

Vocational Education, State Board of.

Created by the Legislature of 1919 in order to take advantage of the Act of Congress providing for vocational education and for co-operation with the states in promoting such education. It was to consist of the State Board of Education as ex officio members and four others to be appointed by the Governor, one of whom should represent agriculture, one the employer of labor, one the employees, and the fourth (a woman) home interests. The Superintendent of Public Instruction was designated as executive officer (1919 p.616-9). The Legislature of 1923 passed a law accepting the provisions and benefits of the Act of Congress providing for the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons. The powers of the Board of Vocational Education were extended to co-operate with the Federal Board in carrying out the provisions of this law. This Board together with the Industrial Accident Commission, was to formulate a plan of co-operation which should become effective when approved by the Governor. This Board was directed to delegate to the Industrial Accident Commission the duties of the direction, administration, and supervision of this vocational rehabilitation (1923 p.196-7).

Water Board.

For legislation previous to 1919 see Control, Board of, which formerly had jurisdiction over the water powers of the state. The Legislature of 1919 abolished the office of Superintendent of District no. 1, transferring his duties to the State Engineer and Water Superintendent. The title of the Superintendent of District no. 2 was changed to State Water Superintendent. The Legislature also constituted the State Engineer and the State Water Superintendent a "State Water Board" with authority to supervise the waters of the state. The State Engineer was to be ex officio president with right to vote on all questions. The Board was to appoint a secretary and such other employees as were necessary (1919 p.130-44). The section providing for the State Water Superintendent also provides that whenever the Governor considers that, in the work of adjudicating the water power upon the large streams, his services can be dispensed with, his duties shall be transferred to the State Engineer who should perform these additional duties without larger salary than he received as State Engineer. The Legislature of 1923 abolished the office of Water Superintendent and transferred his duties to the State Engineer (1923 p.438-58).

Weather Service.

The Legislature of 1889 provided for a State Weather Service to consist of a director who should be appointed by the Governor, and an assistant director, who was to be appointed by the Chief Signal Officer of the U.S. Army. This Board was to co-operate with the U.S. Weather Bureau. On its recommendation the Secretary of State was to appoint a meteorological observer in each county, the central office to be in Portland. The Board was to tabulate the reports of these observers and make a monthly report to the State Printer for publication as the "Oregon State Weather Service reports." It was also to make an annual report to the Governor (1889 p.41-3). It is called in the reports "Weather Bureau." Because of the change of policy of the national Weather Bureau, after Jan. 1, 1897 the whole expense was to be borne by the national service and there was no longer need for the state service (Biennial report 1895-1896, p.iii).

Weights and Measures, State Sealer of.

The Territorial Legislature of 1854 provided that the State Treasurer should be the State Sealer of Weights and Measures (1854/55 p.533-4). The Legislature of 1913 provided that he should appoint a deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures who should have control of the inspection of weights and measures throughout the state, with authority to make such investigations as he considered necessary, and to prosecute violators of the law (1913 p.636-40). The Legislature of 1923 transferred the work of the Sealer of Weights and Measures to the newly created office of Market Agent (1923 p.394-8).

World's Fair Commission. (Columbian Exposition, Chicago).

A Commission of six members to be appointed by the Governor was provided for by act of the Legislature of 1893. One was to be appointed from the State Board of Agriculture, one from the State Board of Horticulture, one from the State Board of Education, one from the State at large to represent the mining interests, one from the Columbia River Packers' Association, one from the members of the Board of Lady Managers residing in Oregon. The Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer and members of the U.S. Board of Commissioners appointed by the U.S. government for the State of Oregon were to be ex officio members. This Commission was to have charge of the Oregon exhibit at the Columbian Exposition. A report by Feb. 1, 1895, is specified. (1893 p.7-9).

State Institutions for Defectives, Dependents and Delinquents.

Blind, Employment Institution for the.

Levy of tax was authorized by the Legislature at its special session, 1920 (1920 p.72), for erecting and equipping a building. Because by this law, the money would not be available until 1922, a special appropriation was made by the Legislature of 1921. It was to be under the supervision of the State Board of Control. Reports are included in the reports of that Board.

Blind, Institute for the.

The first provision for the education of the blind was in 1872, when the Legislature made an appropriation for that purpose, entrusting the direction of it to the Board of Education (1872 p.102). The following session money was appropriated for the Oregon Institute for the Blind, and the State Board of Education was constituted the board of trustees of the Institute (1874 p.91). It continued under this supervision until in 1913, when with other state institutions, it was transferred to the management of the State Board of Control, and its separate board abolished (1913 p.119-33).

After the transfer of state institutions to the supervision of the State Board of Control in 1913, the reports of the Institute for the Blind are included in the reports of that Board.

Deaf, State School for the.

House joint resolution 29, Oct. 26, 1870, provided for the education of the deaf, under the supervision of the State Board of Education. No specific provision was made for a special school, but the Board evidently considered this implied as the school was immediately started (1870 p.200-1). The Legislature of 1872 increased the appropriation (1872 p.92) and the law of Oct. 26, 1874 made definite its provision for a school under the direction of the State Board of Education. The Legislature of 1880 transferred the superintendence of the school from the Board of Education to a Board of nine, six of whom should be appointed by the Governor and three by the Society to Promote the Education of Deaf Mutes, Salem. The Board of Education was constituted a Board of Visitors, and the members were required to visit the school at least twice a year, and file a report with the Secretary of State (1880 p.18-9). The law of Feb. 22, 1893 again made the Governor, Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction the Board of Trustees (1893 p.180-5). The Legislature of 1913 placed this school, with other state institutions, under the supervision of the Board of Control (1913 p.119-33). The school has been called Oregon Institute for the Deaf, School for Deaf Mutes, and Oregon School for the Education of Deaf Mutes. The law of 1913 quoted above specified that the name shall be "Oregon State School for the Deaf."

Eastern Oregon State Hospital.

Provision was first made by act of Feb. 21, 1893. The general direction was to be under the Board of Public Building Commissioners who were to appoint all employees. The counties from which patients were to be sent to this hospital were Grant, Harney, Malheur, Baker, Union, Wallowa, Umatilla, Morrow, Gilliam and Sherman, while those from Lake, Klamath, Crook and Wasco might be sent to either (1893 p.136-41). Again in 1909, provision was made for an eastern Oregon branch to be located either near Baker or Pendleton (1909 p.147-8), the previous undertaking having been stopped by injunction proceedings on the ground that it was violating the constitution to locate state institutions away from the seat of government (Insane Asylum, Biennial report 1893-94, p.vi, Supreme Court Reports 26 Or. p.205-15). The law of 1909 carried the referendum clause. It was passed at the general election of November, 1910 and appears in the 1911 session laws (p.13-4). The law creating the State Board of Control places this institution under the supervision of that Board (1913 p.119-33). All reports are included in its reports.

Feeble-minded, State Institution for.

Established by act of Feb. 23, 1907. The Governor, Secretary of State, and State Treasurer constitute the board of trustees (1907 p.144-8). The Legislature of 1905 passed a law providing that the State Board of Building Commissioners should make investigations for an institute for the feeble-minded, should select a site and make plans for a building. They were to report their findings at the next session of the Legislature in 1907, together with a bill for the "control, conduct, and management of the institution" (1905 p.311-2). For this report see Public Building Commissioners, Board of, Reports special. At the establishment of the State Board of Control in 1913, this, with other institutions was placed under its supervision (1913 p.119-33).

Hospital, State see Insane Asylum.

Industrial School for Girls.

Established by act of Feb. 25, 1913. It was under the direction of the Board of Control and reports are included in the reports of that Board. There is also provision for an advisory board to be appointed by the Governor (1913 p.268-70).

Insane Asylum.

Early in the history of the Provisional Government, provision was made for the insane to be placed in the care of guardians, the laws evidently being taken from the Iowa laws, as they are dated 1839 and 1841 (1843-49 p.162-7). The codes of 1853/54 and 1854/55 continued the provisions for the guardianship of the insane, a law of Jan. 30, 1855 making additional provisions for their support and specifying also that those who were dangerous were to be kept in the county prison (1854/55 p.390-400). The Legislature of 1855/56 repealed the law of Jan. 30, 1855 (1855/56 p.44).

The Legislature of 1857/58 made provisions again for the support of the insane and the custody by the sheriff of the county of those who were dangerous (1857/58 p.50-1). The Legislature of 1862 provided for a contract with suitable persons for safe keeping, care and medical treatment of the insane. The Governor must visit the institution once every six months and must also appoint two physicians to inspect the condition of the inmates and report. The contractors as well must report to the Governor before the meeting of the Legislature (1862 p.53-6). The Legislature of 1864 provided for a board of commissioners to locate lands for an insane asylum and penitentiary (1866. Laws omitted from 1864, p.95-8). The Legislature of 1868 by Senate Joint Resolution 3 provided for the appointment of a joint committee to consider propositions for the care of the insane (1868 p.10). The resolution (Senate joint resolution 15) authorizing the contract with Dr. J. C. Hawthorne added the instructions to report a bill to provide for the construction at the seat of government of a permanent building for an insane asylum (1868 p.100-1). The contract was continued in 1870 (Senate joint resolution 17, p.183) and in 1874 (1874 p.38). The Legislature of 1878 continued it also but with the proviso that at the end of four years if there was a state asylum, the patients should be turned over to the care of the State (1878 p.71-7). The Legislature of 1880 designated the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer a board of commissioners to erect an insane asylum and appropriated money for that purpose (1880 p.39-51). The Legislature of 1882 renewed the contract for the care of the insane with the heirs of Dr. Hawthorne for seven months or such time as was deemed best, pending the completion of the state building (1882 p.6-7). The Legislature also passed an act for the management of the institution, placing it under the control of a board of trustees consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, which should appoint a superintendent (1882 p.23-5). The transfer of patients was made in 1883 and with October of that year the regular series of reports begins. At different times enlargement of the equipment and increases in the staff were authorized. The law of 1913 creating the State Board of Control places the supervision of the insane asylum in the hands of that Board and changes the name to State Hospital (1913 p.119-33).

Penitentiary.

For the earliest provisions for a penitentiary building see Penitentiary Building Commissioners, Board of. The Legislature of 1856/57 at the completion of the building at Portland, provided for a superintendent of the penitentiary and abolished the Board of Building Commissioners (1856/57 p.9-13). The Legislature of 1858/59 changed the responsible officer in charge of the penitentiary to an inspector who should be elected by the people and was authorized to farm out the penitentiary and the convict labor to the best responsible bidder. He was empowered to appoint a warden at such times as the penitentiary was not under lease and he was to supervise it in whichever way it was managed, making such regulations as were necessary (1858/59 p.35-9). At the so-called extra session of 1859 a law was passed for the leasing of the penitentiary to Robert Newell and L. N. English, with the proviso that if they failed to enter into contract or abandoned the lease, the Governor was to appoint an inspector, in which case the law passed at the session of 1858/59 should hold with the exception of the provision for his election, which was repealed (1859 p.34-6). In a special message to the Legislature of 1862, the Governor, because of the large number of escapes among the convicts, suggested that the working of convicts away from the prison grounds be prohibited, and a system of manufactures be introduced (House journal 1862 Appendix p.46-9). In response to this request the Legislature of 1862 made the Governor superintendent of the penitentiary, with power to employ a warden (1862 p.71-3) and with authority to manage the institution according to his best judgment. As soon as the site of the seat of government was decided upon, a board of commissioners, of which the superintendent of the penitentiary was chairman, was appointed to locate and supervise the building of the penitentiary at Salem (1864, in Laws of 1866 p.95-8). The Legislature of 1864 also passed a law providing for a superintendent to be appointed by the Governor, and the superintendent was to appoint the warden (1845-64 Deady code p.835-57). The Legislature of 1870 appropriated money for the erection of permanent buildings to be in charge of the Penitentiary Building Commissioners, in accordance with the law of 1864 (1870 p.61-2). The Legislature of 1913 placed the management of the penitentiary under the Board of Control, which should have the appointment of the executive officer, designated as warden (1913 p.129-33). The Legislature of 1917 gave the Governor once more full authority over the penitentiary with power to appoint the warden (1917 p.220-1).

For the history of the penitentiary see the biennial report of the superintendent to the Legislature of 1874, Appendix p.49-53; also H. H. Bancroft, History of Oregon, v.2, p.350-1, 643-5.

Reform School.

The first provision for a reform school for juvenile offenders was made by the Legislature of 1889, when the Governor, Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction were constituted a Board of Reform School Building Commissioners (1889 p.15-18). The report of the erection of the building is listed under that name. The Legislature of 1891 designated the same Board as a permanent Board for the management of the reform school, to be known as the Board of Trustees of the State Reform School. It was authorized to make such rules and regulations as it considered necessary and to have power of appointment and removal of the superintendent and other employees (1891 p.103-10). The Legislature of 1903 made the State Treasurer a member of the Board instead of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and provided that the Superintendent of Public Instruction should visit the school at least four times a year and report to the Board in regard to the instruction in use there, recommending such changes as he should deem advisable (1903 p.330-1). The Legislature of 1911 changed the name to Oregon State Training School (1911 p.6). The Legislature of 1913 placed the training school with other state institutions under the charge of the State Board of Control, and thereafter the reports are included in those of the Board of Control (1913 p.119-33).

Rules and regulations.

- 1891 Dec. 8. Rules and regulations. 20p. (B)

Soldiers Home.

Established by act of Feb. 21, 1893 for the care of old soldiers. The Board of five trustees in charge was to be appointed by the Governor, not more than three of them to be of the same political party and at least three to be honorably discharged ex-soldiers or sailors or marines (1893 p.105-8). The Legislature of 1901 dispensed with the Board of Trustees, placed the home under the direct supervision of the Governor, and gave him authority to make necessary rules and regulations and to appoint a commandant and other employees (1901 p.277-80). The law of 1913 creating the State Board of Control transferred to this Board the authorities and duties previously performed by the Governor (1913 p.119-33).

Tuberculosis, State Commission for the Treatment of.

The Legislature of 1909 provided for the appointment by the Governor of four residents of the state, who with the president and secretary of the State Board of Health, should form the State Commission for the Treatment of Tuberculosis. As soon as practicable after its organization it was to establish one or more sanatoria for the treatment of the tuberculous poor of the state (1909 p.297-8). With the creation of the Board of Control in 1913 this work was included in that of this Board (1913 p.119-33).
